What are Community Legal Centres?

Community legal centres are independent community organisations providing free legal services including advice and information.

Community legal centres also undertake law reform and advocacy, and provide legal education for organisations and communities across NSW. We promote human rights and advocate for a fair and non-discriminatory legal justice system.

There are 39 community legal centres in NSW that are members of the Combined Community Legal Centres Group (NSW). Being members of this peak body means that community legal centres are accredited with the National Association of Community Legal Centres (NACLC), and bear the NACLC trade-mark. The NACLC trade-mark signifies that the organisations are committed to Community Legal Centre Service Standards,

Risk Management Guidelines, community involvement principles and professional standards for community legal centres.

Community legal centres provide confidential legal advice and assistance on a range of issues including:

- Accidents & compensation
- Banking & Finance
- Consumer rights
- Employment
- Family Law & Relationships
- Human Rights
- Neighbours
- Transport
- Wills and Estates
- Apprehended Violence Orders (AVOs)
- Children & Young People
- Crime
- Environment
- Housing, Property & Development
- Immigration & Citizenship
- Social Services
- Health

Using the directory

This directory provides contact details for community legal centres. It is divided into two sections.

1. All community legal centres by alphabetical order

The first section lists all the community legal centres in New South Wales. It includes:

- Generalist Legal Centres - those which offer a broad range legal assistance and information to their local community, and are located across New South Wales, and
- Specialist Centres - those which service the whole State, and concentrate on offering assistance to people effected by a particular area of the law.

2. Suburb and Town Index

The last section provides an alphabetical list of most suburbs and towns across New South Wales to help locate the nearest generalist community legal centre to each client.

Most centres provide face-to-face legal advice as well as information over the phone. Many centres hold day-time and evening interview and advice sessions. Please call the centre directly to make an appointment.

Along with individual cases, community legal centres can take on cases for large groups of people (class actions) or test cases where the problem involved will affect a significant part of the community.

CLCs often take on cases where Legal Aid is not available or where community legal centres have particular expertise.

Who qualifies for help?

Community legal centres can give free legal advice to almost everyone in the community, but due to limited resources, often cannot provide further assistance. Where a centre can help, they usually help people who cannot afford a private solicitor and/or are unable to access Legal Aid NSW.

Telephone interpreter service

If a person needs an interpreter, call the Translating & Interpreting Service (TIS) on 13 14 50, tell them the language the person speaks and give TIS the telephone number of the community legal centre they wish to contact.

People with disabilities

Access for people with disabilities varies between centres. Please call or email first to confirm access and to allow time to make arrangements if needed.

Other useful services

- LawAccess NSW is a free government telephone service that provides legal information, advice and referrals for people who have a legal problem in NSW. Ph: 1300 888 529
- Legal Aid is a Government legal service dealing with family law, criminal legal matters, and some civil law matters. It provides free legal advice, court representation, and grants for Legal Aid lawyers or private solicitors. Access to Legal Aid depends on the type of legal problem and the person's income. The Customer Service Officers at LawAccess can help people work out whether Legal Aid may be available and help fill out the Legal Aid application form. Call 1300 888 529.
- Legal Aid Hotline for Under 18s Provides telephone legal advice for young people facing criminal charges, 9am-midnight Monday-Friday, and 12 noon-midnight on the weekends. Ph: 1800 10 18 10

- Anti-Discrimination Board NSW investigates complaints of discrimination, harassment and vilification. The Board does not take sides but tries to help all parties agree on a resolution. Ph: (02) 9268 5555 or 1800 670 812 (for callers outside Sydney metro).
- Australian Human Rights Commission investigates complaints about discrimination on the grounds of race, colour or ethnic origin, racial vilification, sex, sexual harassment, marital status, pregnancy, or disability. Ph: (02) 9284 9600 Complaints Infoline 1300 656 419
- NSW Ombudsman's Office investigates complaints about the conduct of NSW government agencies and departments and their employees, as well as some non-government agencies. Ph: (02) 9286 1000 or 1800 451 524 (for callers outside Sydney metro).

Other useful services continued

- Aboriginal Legal Service (NSW/ACT) Limited (ALS) is a community-controlled organisation providing legal aid services to Aboriginal people in NSW and ACT. The ALS has approximately 24 offices across NSW and the ACT from which it provides legal advice, referral and casework assistance in the fields of Criminal and Family Law (including Care and Protection). ALS also provides advice on Civil Law matters from some of its offices. Ph: (02) 8842 8000 www.alsnswact.org.au

- The Solicitor Referral Service of the Law Society of New South Wales helps the public find private solicitors or accredited specialists in specific areas of law. The Service pivots around a unique referral database of more than 1,400 law firms which enables it to refer clients who can pay for legal services to appropriate law firms.
Ph: (02) 9926 0300 or 1800 422 713 (for callers outside Sydney metro)
Email: ererral@lawsocnsw.gov.au

- Office of the Legal Services Commissioner receives all complaints about solicitors, barristers and licensed conveyancers in NSW. The OLSC also oversees the investigation of complaints about the conduct of practitioners and plays a major role in resolving consumer disputes.
Ph: (02) 9377 1800 or 1800 242 958 Email: olsc@agd.nsw.gov.au

- Family Relationship Centres are a first port of call when families want information about relationship and separation issues. Where families separate, the centres provide information, advice and dispute resolution (such as mediation) to help them reach agreement on parenting arrangements. Advice Line: Freecall 1800 050 321
